

Women's Affordable Housing Network (WAHN) Announces Inaugural Summit in Atlanta, Georgia

Atlanta, GA-June 9-11, 2024: The Women's Affordable Housing Network (WAHN) is thrilled to announce its inaugural summit, set to take place at the Courtland Grand Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia. The summit will bring together industry experts, change-makers, and advocates dedicated to making housing more accessible.

"At WAHN, we believe in amplifying all voices and ideas to build the best communities for everyone," said Ashley Northcutt President of WAHN. "Our summit promises to be more than your typical conference – it will be a fun and energetic gathering with a unique WAHN twist!"

Collaborating closely with the National Council of State Housing Agencies (NCSHA), WAHN has ensured there will be no overlap in programming, allowing attendees to seamlessly transition from one event to the next.

Event Highlights:

CONNECT in a meaningful and fun way: The summit provides a platform to connect with like-minded individuals, experts, and organizations passionate about affordable housing. Through networking sessions, panel discussions, and collaborative workshops, WAHN aims to foster a supportive community dedicated to making housing more accessible for all.

LEARN from industry experts, change-makers, and innovative thinkers: WAHN has curated a diverse range of sessions led by industry thought leaders and advocates. Attendees will have the chance to explore the latest trends, innovative solutions, and best practices in affordable housing.

EMPOWER through inspirational talks, success stories, and interactive programming: WAHN aims to empower attendees with the tools, knowledge, and confidence to drive positive change in their organizations and communities. Together, we can be catalysts for affordable housing solutions, advocating for policies that make a real impact and supporting one another on this transformative journey.

"We invite everyone to help us spread the word by sharing the Summit and hashtag on social media pages, with teammates, clients, and friends across the industry," added Ashley Northcutt "Let's come together to ensure the #WAHNSummit2024 is a resounding success!"
